5. Testimonials re-writing

Arjun Reddy :

- What stands out about Cine Arc is that when they commit to something, they make every effort to deliver on it. Their team takes commitments seriously, communicates clearly, and follows through. Over the years, we have learned that when Cine Arc gives their word, we can rely on it.

Priya Sharma :

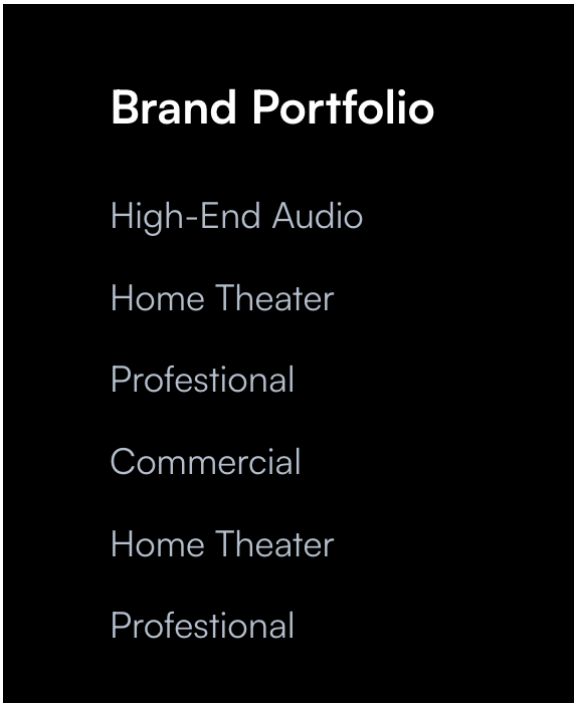

- Cine Arc has always been willing to look beyond simply supplying a product. Their team takes the time to understand the requirement, discuss the challenges, and suggest a better approach when they see one. That guidance has helped us make better decisions for our projects and, more importantly, build greater confidence with our own customers.

Kunal Desai :

- Working with Cine Arc has always felt more like a partnership than a typical distributor relationship. They stand behind their commitments and remain involved when support is needed. Whether it is finding the right product, solving a technical challenge, or working through an issue, their team genuinely tries to find the right solution rather than simply completing the transaction.
